To Whom It May Concern,

This letter is confirming that BuildUp is the winner of AngelHack Jaipur. The team has been invited to San Francisco for participating in the HACKcelerator sponsored by AngelHack.

AngelHack is a Delaware Company that organizes hackathon competitions for web developers and entrepreneurs in the US and around the world, called AngelHack, where they can learn developer tools, and receive funding and mentorship for their start-up ideas. In 2018, AngelHack will organize 100 hackathons, bringing together 15,000+ developers in 50+ cities of the world.

Winners from every city are invited to the HACKcelerator, a twelve (12) week mentorship program that helps take their idea to fundable start-up. The capstone to this program is "Silicon Valley Week." This one (1) week trip to the US affords the teams many opportunities to further their companies including:

- Pitch Boot Camp/Presentation Training
- Opportunity to showcase the company to US investors
- Build community with other international and domestic teams

While in San Francisco, the team's stay will be provided by AngelHack. Contact information is also provided. The program begins on August 6th, 2018 with "Silicon Valley Week" occurring from October 28th, 2018 to November 4th, 2018
